Dear Sirs,

I have been advised that, the workers who were exposed to asbestos during their working years could lose their right to jury trials. This could happen under the guise of a "Court Rule". I also have been apprised that the firm of Dickenson-Wright has filed a Petition before the Court to attempt this unconstitutional effort! I would like to think that the State Supreme Court interprets the law not makes it! The makers of dangerous products should be held accountable when workers are exposed to them. As one who was exposed to asbestos over a span of 30 years, my concern is a valid one. The product has probably shortened the lives of many and this needs to be addressed in a fair manner. Thank you for this opportunity to express my concerns.

Sincerely, John V. Runberg
